FAQs

Is this too early to start travel sports?

Unfortunately travel sports are starting earlier and earlier. If we wish to remain competitive in future years, serious training needs to start at this age.

What characteristics are required to make the team

There is no set type, however, here is what we generally see in successful players:

- 1- Decent baseball abilities and a true desire to get better at baseball (love of the game)
- 2- Good baseball skills
- 3- Not there yet physically, but wants to get better

What does the GRIT Season look like?

The last couple of years were double headers once a week on Sunday that ran late April thru Mid July.

Do I need to play house ball as well?

Yes, but the games will not conflict.

Is it kid pitch?

No, it is machine pitch.

Is there additional cost for this?

Yes, but primarily to cover winter indoor practice and uniforms.

I can't find the registration link

Go to the FLL website, select Registration Info and scroll to the bottom

What do "Try Outs" look like?

Kids lined up alphabetically, then hit a few grounders, high pops and a few swings off a tee.

How do we prep/put our best foot forward?

Hustle, hustle, hustle. Show up with an FLL jersey, wear baseball pants, caps on forward. Act serious, don't clown around, chase after every ball. Thank the coaches, encourage others and hustle!!

What do we need to bring to tryouts?

Glove, bat, batting helmet and water. Bats and helmets will be provided if needed.
